Information on the Notes

Citigroup Funding Inc. (the "Issuer") has issued Buffer Notes ("Notes") based upon the S&P 500 Index (the "Index"). The Notes were priced at $10 each and mature in 2010.

At maturity, investors will receive:

- If the Final Index Level is greater than or equal to the Initial Index Level, $10 plus an amount equal to the product of:
  - (i) $10;
  - (ii) the Index Return Percentage; and
  - (iii) the Upside Participation Rate (300%).

However, the payment at maturity cannot be greater than an amount to be determined at pricing (a maximum return of between approximately 24% to 27%) per each Note.

- If the Final Index Level is less than the Initial Index Level by 10% or less, $10.00.
- If the Final Index Level is less than the Initial Index Level by more than 10%, $10 plus an amount equal to the product of:
  - (i) $10; and
  - (ii) the Index Return Percentage plus 10%.

If the Final Index Level declines by more than 10% of the Initial Index Level, the payment at maturity will be less than the original issue price of $10.

The Index Return Percentage will be computed as follows:

The Initial Index Level will be determined on or near the pricing date. The Final Index Level will be calculated near the maturity date.

Please see the prospectus for the Notes for more details regarding the calculations.

It is expected that the market value of the Notes will depend substantially on the value of the Index and may be affected by a number of other interrelated factors including, among other things: the general level of interest rates, the volatility of the Index, the time remaining to maturity, the dividend yield of the stocks comprising the Index, and the credit ratings of the Issuer.
